Overview

A handheld metal detector for door staff, event security, schools, retail loss prevention and facilities teams. At its highest setting it can pick up very small items, such as a micro SD card in a jeans pocket.

The detection area is 165 mm long and extends past the belt clip, so each sweep covers more ground. A slider switches between low, medium and high sensitivity, with a dial on the back for fine tuning. It is supplied with a charging dock and rechargeable AA batteries, so there are no disposable batteries to keep buying.

Key features

- High sensitivity: finds items as small as a micro SD card
- Large detection area: 165 mm long, extending past the clip
- Adjustable: low, medium and high presets plus a fine-tune dial
- Three alert modes: audio and visual, visual only, or vibration
- Built-in clip to carry on a belt or waistband
- Charging dock with battery level indicator and charge-complete LED

In use

Sweep. Pass the wand slowly over the person, front and back, keeping it close to the body.

Choose the alert. Use audio and visual alerts in quiet areas, or vibration for noisy venues and discreet searches.

Getting the best from it

Set the level. Use high sensitivity for small items and loss prevention, and lower settings to avoid alerts from keys and jewellery.

Keep it charged. Return the wand to the dock between shifts; the LED shows when it is ready.
